Some places have souls. For Pointe-à-Callière, it is the souls of all those people who built and shaped Montréal. Stand still for a moment in the crypt and you can almost hear them murmuring through the stones – as if the past were trying to speak to us.

Why not listen and hear what it's saying?

WELCOME TO WHERE IT ALL BEGAN...

Building Montréal, located in the archaeological remains atop which the Pointe-à-Callière museum is built, is a unique permanent exhibition that lets visitors explore Montréal's past in situ. But after a quarter century, it's time to modernize the displays, using the most advanced technology, to maintain the Museum's reputation as an international leader and celebrate the human adventure that is Montréal.
